

Welcome to our 2009 Season

We have put together another wonderful programme of plays to entertain you with two dramas, a comedy, a thriller and a children's play.

Face to Face is one of David Williamson's latest plays exploring the new justice system which allows victims of crime to face the perpetrator.

Ron Blair set President Wilson in Paris in leafy Wahroonga to underscore the apparent normality and respectability of the household into which the burglar unwittingly finds himself in this psychological thriller.

Key for Two is from one of Britain's most successful comedy writing teams. John Chapman's list of credits includes Dry Rot, one of the first of the Whitehall farces.

Joanna Murray-Smith's Honour, winner of the 1996 Victorian Premier's Award for literature, explores the conflicts and complexities when a hitherto stable marriage is challenged by the arrival of a young, seductive woman.

Roald Dahl, much loved children's writer who always manages to avoid sentimentality, provides the crisp fun play Fantastic Mr Fox for our children's production at the end of the year.

We look forward to seeing you again, our loyal subscribers, during the year.

Face to Face

by David Williamson
by arrangement with Cameron Cresswell Agency Pty Ltd

Directed by Catherine Potter

After being fired, Glen rams his car into the back of his boss's Mercedes. Desperate to get his job back and to avoid a court trial, Glen and his family agree to attend a community conference.

Will Glen take responsibility for his anger or end up in court? As the conferencing progresses, other issues are revealed as family and workmates add their interpretations.

A warm, humorous, unpredictable and enlightening play.

President Wilson in Paris

by Ron Blair
by arrangement with HLA Management Pty Ltd

Directed by Robyn Williams

In leafy Wahroonga, a burglar invades the home of a middle-aged couple. Discovered, he is drawn into their mind games. How will he extricate himself? Can he extricate himself? Moving between Paris and Sydney, past and present, this mystery thriller in the style of Hitchcock is full of twists and turns, keeping audiences, entertained, amused and on the edge of their seats until the finale.

Key for Two

by David Freeman and John Chapman
by special arrangement with Dominic Pty Ltd

Directed by Helen Williams

In this wickedly amusing play, by two master craftsmen of comedy, Harriet, a divorcee living in an elegant apartment, solves her financial problems by entertaining two married gentlemen callers on different days of the week. The scheme faces collapse when friends and spouses come in hot pursuit. The confusion that ensues builds to a rich complexity of mistaken identity, splendidly farcical situations and a climax of comic wizardry.

Honour

by Joanna Murray-Smith
by special arrangement with Tropolis Pty. Ltd

Directed by Jennifer Willison

Who, in a long-term relationship, hasn't wondered about lives not lived, about who one might have become if one had chosen a different lover, a different life? What happens when the opportunity arises for one life to be renewed, but at the expense of another's happiness and security? This contemporary Australian award winning play has been staged to great acclaim around the world.
